An incident has occurred!!

Incident 1: Child Labor

- A visit to a supplier's factory reveals several children in the factory.
- When asked what they are doing there, the children say “bringing tea to our parents working in the factory.”
- It is later discovered that the children work full-time in the factory and do not attend elementary school.
- The factory manager says that the children come from very poor families, and if left unattended, they would have to beg or prostitute themselves.
